

Dear Last Man Standing Community Member, Supporter, Athlete and Coach,

The Last Man Standing organising team strives to be transparent and to do what we think is best for our Community. With this being said, a few updates regarding the upcoming Garden Route and Cape Town Mash Up event are in order.

It is also important to be realistic about the circumstances that we are faced with and the impact it has on numerous aspects of our lives.

Our organising team have been working tirelessly to plan contingencies and alternatives with the main goal of hosting the best Last Man Standing events as they are known at stunning new venues. Unfortunately, due to venue availability, date changes, Covid-19 implications and lockdown regulations that have constantly changed a decision has had to be made.

Unfortunately, with the constant date changes of not just our events but others too, all these factors combined means that there is simply not enough available weekends remaining in the 2021 year to host and rollout the Garden Route event to the standards of not just Last Man Standing but our partners.

As much as we, our supporters and stakeholders would love for this event to take place, our team has had to make the decision basing the facts on the sensible and safety protocol information available at this time.
